Creating Prosperity

101 Affirmations to Think By

by

APRIL LAWLER

Throughout the ages, Mystics, Truth Teachers, and even modern-day Self-Help Gurus have all lauded the effectiveness of positive affirmations. Most of us are very good at negative affirmations like: “Rich people are greedy and self-centered, and I don’t want to be like that.” “I’ll never find a job that pays well.” “Money is hard to come by.” Positive affirmations work best when we say them, not to make something come true or to make us believe something, but because they are the Truth (with a capital T) and stating them reinforces our acknowledgement and acceptance of them in our lives. Read these affirmations often. Say them out loud. Write them down and post them in a place where you will see them every day. Begin to understand the Truth behind every statement.
